

SUPPORTED BY THE EUROPEAN
SUSTAINABLE
DEVELOPMENT
NETWORK

PROMOSSO
DA

GLi Gustolab® International
Food Systems and Sustainability

SUPPORTED BY THE EUROPEAN
SUSTAINABLE
DEVELOPMENT
NETWORK

PROMOSSO
DA

May 31, 2018

@ Gustolab International (Piazza dell'Orologio 7, Rome)

GLi Gustolab® International
Food Systems and Sustainability

#sdgsforallmajors #gustolabinstitute

The SDGs are important for all college students regardless of their course of study as they pertain to issues that are worldwide regarding every human being. Everyone should spend some time learning about Sustainability. Colleges and universities are increasing efforts to promote sustainable campus life and students can make a huge difference if they are involved.

Students with different degree backgrounds can bring their unique perspectives to the table and help make sustainability easier to incorporate in society as a whole. People are influenced by their peers whether they want to be or not, and educating young adults at the high school and collegiate level can change the world.

AGENDA

9-9:30am Welcome and registration (ROOM C - MAIN ENTRANCE)
An experiential and sustainable breakfast will be provided.

9:30-11:30am (ROOM A - PLENARY SESSION)
SDGS FOR ALL MAJORS, VIDEO SCREENINGS AND DEBATES.

11:30am - KM0 Box Lunch will be provided (ROOM C)

11:30am - 12:30pm (ROOM B, MEETING ROOM, ROOM D)
Working session
3 TEAMS
DESIGNING A “SDGsFor(ALL)Majors” Manifesto

12:30-1:00pm (ROOM A - PLENARY SESSION)
Conclusions and final remarks

MODERATOR: Sonia Massari, PhD
Gustolab International Director, Roma Tre University Faculty

OUR SPEAKERS

Michael Greene, PhD
Director, Auburn University Metabolic Phenotyping Laboratory
Assistant Professor of Nutrition, College of Human Sciences, Auburn University

Alice Julier, PhD
Associate Dean, Falk School of Sustainability and Associate Professor, Food Studies
Chatham University

Ferro Trabalzi, PhD
Gustolab International Food Systems and Sustainability, Faculty

Marko Zivkovic, PhD
Associate Professor, and Director, Fieldschool for Ethnographic Sensibility
Department of Anthropology, University of Alberta

Roberta Baldazzi
Rise Against Hunger Italy, Country Manager

Frank Mangan, PhD
Extension Professor
Stockbridge School of Agriculture, University of Massachusetts

Paola Sarcina
Cerealia Festival, Director

For more information info@gustolab.com