

GLi at SciArt

Dr. Massari attends the SciArt Summer School organized by the EU Science Hub – Joint Research Centreat Ispra.

The summer school will bring together policy-makers, museum curators working on the border between art and science, scientists and artists active in the field in a series of round table discussions, workshops and meetings.

Together with the Directorates-General for Research and Innovation and Communications Networks, Content and Technology, the summer school gives artists, scientists and policy-makers the chance to come together and exchange ideas and experiences under the theme of 'fairness'.
