

ITALY-ASEAN cooperation on Higher Education

We are happy to have participated in the “ITALY-ASEAN cooperation on Higher Education, Science and Research. Public and Private Synergies” conference held at the Ministero degli Affari Esteri e della Cooperazione Internazionale yesterday. One of the topics during the conference was the “promotion of science, technology and innovation”. Among the speakers were Mario Anderle, scientific attaché of the Embassy of Italy in Hanoi, who talked about food innovation and new technologies- related projects in Vietnam and Italy, and Phi Quyet Tien, Deputy Director Institute of Biotechnology Vietnam Academy of Science and Technology who talked about the current status as well as technology challenges for the agroindustry industry in Vietnam.