

The Future of Food

WeGil Building – Trastevere.

Conference in Italian and English – Limited seats – Simultaneous translation.

How to combine health, access to food and environmental sustainability? Even if we sometimes forget it, it is good to remember that to guarantee the survival of our species it will be necessary to invest more and more on the innovation of the agri-food chain.

Finding and applying the most effective methods and technologies to make food truly sustainable is everyone's job: politicians, companies, startups, researchers and consumers. After all, the rule is always the same: "who is not part of the solution, then it's part of the problem".

For the other scheduled events, go on www.romestartupweek.com.